

REACH WALNUT HILLS

ONGOING - WALNUT HILLS

In Cincinnati's Walnut Hills neighborhood, the Port Authority has focused REACH on Morgan Street in the neighborhood's historic Peebles Corner District. REACH Walnut Hills represents a $1.5 million housing investment following through on the neighborhood's desire to build on its existing assets, such as walkability, quality building stock, and civic engagement.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHT

REACH

The Port Authority's REACH Program was developed to holistically implement full-neighborhood residential redevelopment. REACH – Rehab Across Cincinnati & Hamilton County – is one of several programs the Port Authority uses to promote enduring Hamilton County neighborhoods where families feel safe, have expanded employment opportunities, and greater access to viable housing options.

REACH launched in 2014 in Evanston. Focusing on target areas within neighborhoods, the goal of REACH is to stabilize housing stock in neighborhoods, many of which have seen a long-term decline in housing value.
